

Anti-Vice Crusade Launched By Jury In 48 Indictments

Vagrancy Hit as Grand Jurors Start Movement To Drive Criminal Element From City.

CITY AND COUNTY AUTHORITIES AID

Assistant Solicitor Ed A. Stephens Will Direct Campaign To Rid City of Vice.

Launching an intensive campaign to rid the city and county of idlers, bootleggers, professional gamblers, bootleggers, crooks and other persons who have no visible means of livelihood, the Fulton county grand jury Friday returned 48 indictments charging vagrancy against alleged law-offenders. Names of those indicted were withheld pending their arrest.

This was the first step in a campaign recently instigated by city and county authorities. The movement was suggested at a recent meeting of the police committee of city council and a committee was appointed composed of City Police Chief E. L. Jett, County Police Chief George Mathieson, Solicitor General John A. Boykin, of Fulton superior court; Solicitor Roy Dorsey, of the criminal court of Atlanta; Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, chairman of the police committee of city council; Virlyn B. Moore, chairman of the police committee of the county commission, and Mayor Walter A. Sims.

This committee meets monthly and was organized for the purpose of suppressing crime and vice in the city and county. Two meetings of the committee have already been held and the crusade against alleged law-offenders launched by the grand jury Friday is a result. Other steps are being planned by the committee who have the cooperation of the grand jury.

Ed A. Stephens, assistant solicitor general, will lead the drive to "get at the heart of Atlanta's and Fulton county's underworld."

"We intend to wipe out this loitering class; they will have to go to work, leave the city or work on the changing," Assistant Solicitor Stephens declared.

Hert Donaldson, special investigator in the office of Solicitor General Boykin, will aid in the campaign.

Before the drive is brought to a close, more than 500 persons will have been indicted, it is stated.

Approximately 4,000 persons, including leading ministers and lay workers from every section of the south, attended opening services of the 10-day Bible conference Friday afternoon and night at the Baptist tabernacle.

For many years the Tabernacle has been holding the outstanding Bible conference of the south and with a list of speakers which includes foremost ministers and laymen of the south this year's conference assumes even greater proportions than in many years past.

IF A LADY SEES A BARGAIN IN A GROCERY AD—

You do not need two guesses to determine what she will do. Quality considered, she is going to buy where she can get the best price and you must applaud her good judgment and keen sense of business. It is a part of her duty to make up the menus, select and purchase the food for the family, and it is her pride to keep down the expense of this very necessary adjunct to living.

This morning's Constitution makes her grocery buying an easy task—the offerings of the leading groceries and markets are spread before her. She knows qualities, and the prices are given. She knows these are lowest prices to be obtained. She knows that the prices she sees in the morning paper may have been made after the prices of the day before were published.

Thus, in the morning hours, before the period of the day when its amusements and diversions may engage her attention, she does the buying for the family and reads that portion of the paper that particularly interests her. The morning paper gets attention, and that is why—

Premier Declares He Will Not Represent France At Geneva If Measure Is Defeated.

BRIAND ANGERED OVER CRITICISMS

Declares Chamber Must Make Decision Immediately or Situation Will Become Catastrophic

Paris, March 5.—The Briand government won a preliminary victory in the latest French political crisis which arose early this morning in the chamber when the deputies passed the article of the cabinet's financial projects raising the tobacco tax by a vote of 250 to 165.

Previously Briand had delivered an ultimatum to the chamber to the effect that he would not attend the league of nations council assembly at Geneva Monday unless his financial program for restoration were passed. The vote on the tobacco levy followed a conference of the finance commission and the cabinet as well as threats by President Malvy, of the commission, that he would resign if the measure were defeated.

As the chamber went into its all night session with the intention of definitely disposing of the financial measures, the question of whether Briand would win or resign following defeat was very problematical.

In the meantime, however, the government had succeeded in obtaining withdrawal of the monopoly fund-raising proposal.

The situation in the chamber became increasingly serious as action approached on the most important articles of the financial program. Criticized by Deputy Renaudel because he did not put the question of a vote of confidence to the chamber, Briand declared angrily:

"The government has important obligations. If the chamber does not make a decision immediately the situation will become catastrophic. The problem of the franc can be solved if sufficient resources are voted."

"One thing is certain. I will not go to Geneva with hostile parliamentary opinion behind me as it is developing tonight."

CARLISLE ORDERS 'MERRY WIDOW' WALTZ AT FUNERAL

London, March 5.—The Right Honorable Alexander Carlisle, privy councillor, shipbuilder and Bohemian intimate of the former Kaiser and the late King Edward, is dead. He was 72 years old.

Carlisle had made all arrangements for his funeral which included "The Merry Widow" waltz as a substitute for the conventional funeral march. His death resulted from a cold contracted on a visit to the former Kaiser at Doorn in December.

Benevolent and white bearded, Carlisle was a familiar figure at the most Bohemian cafes of London and Paris, and he had visited many times at the highest courts of Europe.

Just before his death Friday, Carlisle, fully conscious, remarked jokingly that his prediction, made some weeks ago, that he would not live long, was coming true.

Carol Is Planning To Fight Suit of Divorced Wife

DID NOT COME TO PARIS FOR QUARREL, HE SAYS

Paris, March 5.—"I am not in Paris to quarrel with Mme. Lambrino," Prince Carol, of Roumania, said in an interview Friday night.

Carol admitted that he had received notification of the 10,000,000 franc damage suit of his former morganatic wife and said he had placed the conduct of his defense in the hands of a Paris lawyer.

"I can only say that our marriage was annulled by competent authorities of my country, with no protest from her," he continued. "Since that time she has regularly received an annual income of 110,000 francs."

"I do not intend to be drawn into a scandal and do not intend to give my private affairs a public airing."

Carol now is having a hard time dodging his former wife.

With her small son, Mircea, the vivacious Zizi, who married the prince as his morganatic wife in 1918, has taken up her station near the hotel where Carol now is living with a more recent flame, and has made repeated unsuccessful attempts to see him.

Zizi's suit is for damages as com-

Henry Harman Dies From Pistol Wound At Home in Miami

Noted Southern Poet and Author Found Mortally Wounded in Garden of His Winter Home.

SMALL GRANDSON SEES TRAGIC END

Beloved Georgian Had Been in Ill Health for Sometime—Family Receives Sad News.

KILLED BY BANDITS, DECLARE MEXICANS

Reported in Mexico That Neutral Judge Was Opposed to Claims Made by Americans.

Miami, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Henry Elliott Harman, 70, writer of southern prose and verse and founder of several important trade journals, died tonight from a revolver wound, said to have been inflicted accidentally, in the garden of his winter home on Miami Beach. He died in an ambulance on the way to a hospital. The bullet entered his head. His home was in Atlanta, Ga.

Horace Stringfellow, small grandson of Mr. Harman, told police that he followed his grandfather into the garden, heard the revolver shot and saw him fall with the revolver in his hand. A few minutes before the shooting he had been in the living room talking to members of his family and they said he appeared in good spirits.

News of the death of Henry Elliott Harman, beloved Georgia poet and journalist, at his winter home in Miami, came as a shock to his family and friends in Atlanta Friday night. He had been in poor health for some time.

Mr. Harman was one of the south's notable poets and his work, both in this line and as a writer of prose, has been widely recognized. Several volumes of his verse have been published, his latest work, "Collected Poems of Henry Harman," having met with widest popularity.

In addition to his work as a poet, Mr. Harman was well known in other lines. He was a photographer of recognized ability and published at different times a number of magazines and trade journals. He was a member of several Atlanta clubs and took keenest interests in all worthwhile moves in this city.

His books were illustrated to a great extent with his own photographs and Robert Lovett, also well known southern poet, had many personal friends in literary circles throughout the country.

Among the most loved poems by Mr. Harman were "At the Gate of Dreams," "In Love's Domain," "A Bar of Song," "Dreams of Yesterday," and "In Peaceful Valley." His poetry was largely of nature and were pure lyrical verse.

He was a native of Lexington, S. C., being born March 18, 1856, the son of Franklin James and Jane Ke-

Corliss Faces Alienation Suit For $200,000

Mrs. Brewster Asks Love Balm of Former Macon Girl Now in Movies.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, March 5.—Mrs. Eleanor V. Brewster, wife of Eugene V. Brewster, wealthy magazine publisher, appeared before Justice O'Malley and a jury in the supreme court today and related in part the steps by which she alleges Miss Corliss Palmer, former Macon, Ga., cigar counter girl, and youthful participant in a beauty contest conducted by Brewster, won not only the contest but Brewster's heart as well. She is suing Miss Palmer for $200,000 charging alienation.

Neither Miss Palmer nor Brewster was in court, and Charles H. Tuttle, attorney for Mrs. Brewster, said they were both in California, where Miss Palmer was playing in moving picture comedies. He said he had been told by Brewster that Mrs. Brewster's action would not be defended.

Before Mrs. Brewster had completed her story, Justice O'Malley interrupted the proceedings to direct that Louis H. Fink, Miss Palmer's attorney, be summoned. When Fink arrived, the justice asked whether Miss Palmer wanted to defend the action.

"I really don't know," replied Fink. "So far as I know she does want to defend it."

Upon Fink's assurance that he would telegraph Miss Palmer immediately to learn her intention, Justice O'Malley adjourned the trial until Monday. At that time, if Miss Palmer wished to fight the action, he said he would grant her a reasonable time to return east and defend herself.

MELLON SCORED BY SUPPORTERS OF PROHIBITION LAW

Harger Says Enemies Instead of Friends of Cause Have Been Employed To Enforce Statute.

SPEAKER CHARGES MOCKERY OF LAW

Governor Smith, of New York, Is Assailed at Meeting of International Reform Federation.

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—The national administration has "made no real attempt to enforce the 18th amendment," and has "employed enemies instead of friends of prohibition to enforce prohibition," George D. Harger, of Pittsburg, charged today at the annual meeting of the International Reform Federation.

He "greatly deplored the retention of Mellon (the secretary of the treasury), the former distiller, as head of the law enforcement regime, and his seeming disposition to work in conjunction with the politicians to disparage the law in many places instead of upholding it."

A Mockery of Law.

The administration, said Mr. Harger, who is a trustee of the organization, "has taken good money of the taxpayers for the apparent purpose of enforcing law, but had used it to pay former distillers, saloon keepers and bartenders to make a mockery of law."

He predicted that "when the people of the country become awake to the real work of Mellon, who made law enforcement impossible in states like Pennsylvania, and other large centers, there will be a general upsurge and a demand for the election of an administration committee openly to law and order and with candidates whose records were in agreement with the purposes as expressed by their party platforms."

Attacks Al Smith.

If Governor Alfred E. Smith, of New York, became president, he asserted, "the country might expect the connivance of the national administration with bootleggers because he openly stands upon a platform committed to lawlessness, but the people of the nation had a right to expect better things of the present president, Mr. Coolidge, because of his pledge made to the people of the country."

A program to "establish state organizations throughout the greater portions of the country in order to more effectively combat the crime wave which has covered the country since the close of the world war" was decided on by the federation.

RICH AMERICAN WANTED TO LIVE IN OLD PALACE

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

London, March 5.—London's only moated house, the famous Fulham palace, historic residence of the bishops of London, is going begging.

Dr. Ingram, the present bishop resident, says he cannot live in 10,000 pounds sterling (about $50,000) a year, and has offered the palace, rent free, to anyone who will pay his taxes and keep his staff when he will be away in the United States and Canada conducting a mission this year.

The lucky tenant, not yet found, must be a churchman or church woman. It is expected that some rich American might apply, but so far no one has. The palace was built in the reign of Henry VII.

Future of Atlanta Depends Upon Passage of Bond Issue

Enthusiastic over unanimous endorsement Friday by the Civitan club of the $3,000,000 bond proposal for civic improvements in Atlanta, Harry Root, president of the club and controller of the Southern Baking company, Friday night issued a statement in which he called on "every loyal and progressive Atlantian to lend his support to all items" listed in the proposals.

"Atlanta is just now on the brink of her greatest era of growth and achievement and this is the deciding step in her progressive march which will carry her to a place far in the lead of other southern cities," Mr. Root declared. "I feel that it is the duty of every citizen to take a keen interest in the coming ratification for the bonds—March 24—and to exert every effort to secure passage of each and all of the proposals contained in the list."

"Our city has just emerged from what might be termed a stale period of a few months and is growing by leaps and bounds. Big commercial and industrial concerns have shown confidence in the future of this city by enlargements of their plants and establishment of new ones. It is up to us now to show our faith in Atlanta by living up to the trust which has been placed in us. We must be worthy of these good things and provide for a bigger, greater and better Atlanta."

"Every item of the proposed bond issue is vitally important to the growth of the city and I intend to use every means at my command to assure passage of the issue. If these bonds pass, Atlanta's place as the premier southern city is assured; if we fail, it is a backward step, and our future is imperiled."

"Civic, industrial, commercial, political, social and labor organizations already have stamped their approval of the entire issue, and leaders grow more optimistic each day. The only problem is to get a majority of registered voters to the polls, they say. No difficulty will be experienced in obtaining a two-thirds and even a much greater than two-thirds of those voting as is required by law. According to Georgia laws, a majority of voters must cast ballots and of this majority at least two-thirds must vote for the bonds."

Governor Will Sign Pension Bill Today; Bond Leaders Busy

SWEEPING BOND VICTORY IS SEEN IN MANY PLEDGES

Leaders in City-Wide Bond Campaign Enthusiastic as Various Clubs Approve $3,000,000 Issue

LEAGUE OF WOMEN HEAR HARTSFIELD

Passage of All Items Urged by Speakers as Being Vital to City's Continued Growth.

Additional pledges of support to the $3,000,000 bond issue campaign for Atlanta prompted leaders Friday to predict that such keen interest in the coming election on March 24 has been aroused that Atlantians will flock to the polls to give the entire issue an overwhelming vote.

During the day the Civitan club placed its approval on the issue and speakers on bonds and progress were heard at meetings of the League of Women Voters and other organizations. The league, under its by-laws, does not endorse any project but it was stated that its members will support all items in the bond list.

While speakers and representatives of the bond campaign committee predicted ratification, officials in charge of headquarters at the city hall kept busy organizing for the whirlwind campaign which will be launched early next week.

Entire Issue Approved.

Pledging united support, the Sylvan Hills Improvement club went on record Friday night as unanimously endorsing the entire $3,000,000 bond issue, following speeches by Alderman W. B. Hartsfield, W. C. Slate, Dr. Fred Morris, C. J. McLeon and B. Smythe Gambrell.

The meeting was held at the residence of E. R. Sweet, of 7 Burns drive.

The club heard reports from its building committee as to the progress being made on the clubhouse which is being built upon a lot donated by J. R. Smith, S. P. Cronheim and Mr. Smith, developers of Sylvan Hills, were present and made short talks.

All speakers urged those present to register and vote without fail on March 24 for the entire bond issue.

Plan City-Wide Drive.

The drive for the bonds will be taken into every section of the city and the bond committee will cement all factions into a solid force to help the project to success at the polls. Political lines have been broken down and every effort to assure passage of all items in the list has been given unstinted support of citizens of all walks of life.

Bankers, commercial leaders and industrial chiefs have united with men and women representing various other businesses in a great drive to assure "future prosperity and leadership of Atlanta," W. B. Hartsfield, chairman of the bond committee, stated.

The only problem facing the bond committee is to get a majority of those who register to vote, as the law requires. There will be no difficulty in getting a two-thirds majority of those who vote to cast ballots for each of the items in the list, it is pointed out.

B. Graham West, city comptroller and author of the proposal to issue $3,000,000 in bonds without increasing taxes or assessments, and Mr. Hartsfield spoke in favor of the bonds at the women voters' meeting.

Milner Attacks Hoke Smith in House Speech Because of His Advocacy of Road Bonds.

SUB-COMMITTEES START MEETINGS

Measure Permitting Independent School Systems To Merge With County Systems Passes.

SMITH EXPLAINS REMARKS ON RACE

United States Senator Hoke Smith stated Friday night that reports that he would run for governor in the event road and school bond measures passed the legislature were without serious foundation.

"I did remark in casual conversation with a close personal friend, a member of the legislature, that I might feel disposed to run if bond bills passed," said Senator Smith. "It was after he had been urging me to enter the race. But the remark was absolutely casual and I attached absolutely no weight to it."

"Certainly I did not wish it to be construed as committing me to make the gubernatorial race, and such an intent was far from my thought."

The Confederate pension bill, providing that past due pensions shall be paid by discounting Western and Atlantic railroad rentals for a period of six years is expected to be signed today by Governor Clifford Walker. This measure, first of the program advocated by the governor when he called the special session, was voted without a dissenting vote in the senate Friday, after having passed the house, likewise unanimously, early in the week.

Passage of the pension bill in the senate, and passage in both houses of a bill to permit independent school systems to merge with their county systems if desired, featured the Friday sessions. After transaction of this business and passage of half a dozen local bills in the house, both houses adjourned until Monday.

The subcommittees of the house constitutional amendments committee, appointed to make recommendations on the various bills providing educational or road building issues, held their first meetings Friday. The educational bond subcommittee met and organized and decided to hold another meeting Monday. The committee on highway bonds met in the afternoon at the Kimball house and heard a number of the road bond bills read and described by their authors. The committee plans to hear all bills thus read before it begins the work of drafting a combination substitute bill.

The meeting of the house Friday was enlivened by an attack on former United States Senator Hoke Smith, by Representative J. Herman Milner of Dodge county, because of the former's remarks on race.

NEW PROHIBITION BUREAU IS URGED

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—An administration program for sweeping reorganization of the government's enforcement activities were taken up today by the house ways and means committee, while wet and dry continued their charges and counter charges against each other.

Creation of a separate prohibition bureau in the treasury department as provided in a bill drafted by Representative Cramton, republican, Michigan, was urged before the committee as an immediate "essential step" toward effective enforcement by Assistant Secretary Andrews, in charge of prohibition agencies of the treasury.

Hits Wet Propaganda. Addressing a questionnaire to women's organizations, the Susan B. Anthony foundation assailed what it termed "wet propaganda being circulated by a heavily financed whisky ring" and asked opinions on "life-term sentences for those who continuously violate the laws."

Meanwhile, Assistant Secretary Andrews' office sent an order to prohibition administrators throughout the country, announcing organization of special squads of experts to cope with the industrial alcohol division situation, which, he said, "is one of our biggest problems in the area east of the Ohio and north of the Potomac."

John A. Foster, new chief of alcohol investigation, has a group of agents especially qualified for this work and immediately will tackle the problem.

The squad will be assisted by various prohibition administrators within the territory but will be free to go to any district when an emergency arises.

The treasury department has gone as far as it can in centralizing its activities until "regularizing" legislation is enacted, Mr. Andrews told the ways and means committee. There can be no hope of efficient administration, as long as the present organization stands. A separate bureau, he predicted, would obtain sufficient revenues from bootleggers to pay for its expenses in six months.

"Task Is Too Big." His present task of coordinating three units engaged in various phases of enforcement work "is too big for one man," he continued, urging bureau status also for the coast guard and customs service. The prohibition bureau, he said, had control of border patrols and of the issuance of permits for whisky withdrawals in order to prevent "leakage."

States and local governments must relieve the federal government of much of the "police work," Representative Cramton said, but he thought this should not be so far as to allow lack of responsibility in one section to destroy the effectiveness of the national program.

JURY IS COMPLETED FOR TRIAL OF FAYRE

Ray St. Louis, Miss., March 5.—(AP)—A jury was completed here at 4:15 o'clock this afternoon for the trial of Jesse Fayre, charged with the murder of J. A. McLemore. A procession of talesmen passed before the court before the twelve men were finally selected. One hundred prospective jurors were examined today, making the total questioned for jury service during the two days 141. The state used two of its peremptory challenges, while the defense exhausted its quota of 12.

Taking of testimony was expected to begin tomorrow, Judge Walter A. White has ordered that newspapers having a circulation in Hancock county refrain from publishing such testimony.

Before the first witness is heard, however, C. B. Adam, appointed by the court to defend Fayre, will renew his motion denied Tuesday for a change of venue. The defense attorney said tonight that he will submit to the court that the difficulty experienced in completing the jury panel furnishes grounds for a renewal of the plea for a change of venue.

Jurors Examined.
Today was given over to examination of possible jurors. Several were disqualified by statements that they had formed fixed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant, a few did not believe in circumstantial evidence, and a few others held conscientious scruples against the infliction of capital punishment. Aside from the questioning and re-questioning of talesmen, two other incidents marked the day's court routine. Judge White, who yesterday repeated his order against testimony in the Fayre case in certain newspapers, was asked by a newspaper to cite the statute authorizing the order. The judge issued a statement saying that the order was not based on any statute "but on the inherent power of the court to prevent as far as practicable any unnecessary interference with, or obstruction of, trials or business pending in court."

Judge White added in his statement: "The press has been fully advised that the publication in Hancock county of the testimony in the trial of Fayre will in all probability materially interfere with and may even render impossible the trial of other cases growing out of the crime."

Another development was Mr. Adam's statement to newspapermen that he has been advised by the war department that records show that "one Jesse Fayre" was registered for military service with two local boards at different times in St. Tammany parish. Although the descriptions given were not in agreement and birth dates were different, Mr. Adam said that the person registering in each instance was his client.

MACHINE USED TO TEST DEATH POWER OF GERM

Chicago, March 5.—A machine for measuring the killing power of pneumonia germs has been invented at the University of Chicago by Dr. I. S. Falk, assistant professor of bacteriology.

It is an electrical apparatus which determines the voltage of germs and from this, bacteriologists say, they can figure the germs' potency.

The most potent germs resist clotting the easiest and clotting is said to be a matter of electrical voltage between germs and the solution in which they are suspended.

By using the machine on germs taken from the lungs of pneumonia patients, bacteriologists believe they will be able to calculate how much change the patient has of recovery and how much of death.

Dr. Falk hopes his experiments will be useful in developing a serum for the cure and prevention of pneumonia.

Senate Agrees To Vote On Muscle Shoals Bill On Monday Afternoon

Unanimous Consent Is Obtained on Motion of Senator Heflin, Democrat, of Alabama.

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—The Senate Monday will act on the resolution creating a joint congressional committee to negotiate a lease for Muscle Shoals with instructions to report back to Congress by April 1. This was decided definitely today when Senator Heflin, democrat, Alabama, obtained unanimous consent for a vote on the measure at 3:30 p. m. Monday. Its adoption is a foregone conclusion. Even its opponents admit that the resolution will be passed by a combination of republican and democratic votes.

The real fight will be made on the joint committee's report, which will be contested bitterly regardless of what it contains. It will be impossible for a single recommendation to please all of the senate factions on the Muscle Shoals issue and each faction is led by a senate veteran, capable of blocking final passage.

Seek to Block Amendments.
Supporters of the resolution now are centering their attention toward blocking any amendment to the resolution to prevent it being sent to conference with its attendant delay. This promises to afford a real skirmish, as considerable sentiment has been created in the senate toward compelling an equitable distribution of surplus power to adjoining states as provided in the amendment of Senator Caraway, democrat, Arkansas.

All amendments can be defeated, however, if the regular republicans and the majority of democrats can be held in line. Tonight, this combination stood behind the resolution but the progressive republicans and some democrats are striving to have it amended.

Before the fight is over the senate will be called on to vote on a joint resolution by Senator Smith, democrat, South Carolina, turning over Muscle Shoals to the department of agriculture for the benefit of the farmers. The resolution would provide for the manufacture of fertilizer and any other materials needed for agricultural purposes and for the distribution of all remaining power on an equitable basis to adjoining states. The author plans to introduce the resolution as a substitute to the pending proposal.

Urges Operation By U. S.
Most of the day was consumed with a speech by Senator Howell, republican, Nebraska, who argued in favor of government operation of the Alabama property. He declared that if Muscle Shoals is leased to a private corporation most of the power would be sold and that fertilizer production would be from coal and coke. Private power companies, he asserted, are reaping a rich harvest at the expense of the public and he urged that Muscle Shoals be used to break the "power trust."

Late in the day Senator Heflin unloaded an attack on the democratic senators opposing the resolution. He charged Senators Caraway, Arkansas; Smith, South Carolina; and McKellar, Tennessee, with "jumping about like kids on a sand bank," declaring that they supported the bid of Heflin, Ford, but were opposing the resolution which carried out the principles of the Ford offer.

Answering Senator Caraway's charge that he had gone over to President Coolidge and had assumed the republican leadership on the issue, Senator Heflin declared the president had come to his viewpoint and would continue in that stand.

The Alabama senator charged that the resolution was being fought by the "fertilizer trust and the power trust," which had a "gang of hired hickory nut-headed scribbles writing misrepresentations and false statements of his position on Muscle Shoals."

CUNARD ANSONIA HITS GREAT GALE; PURSER INJURED
Cherbourg, France, March 5.—(AP)—The Cunard liner Ansonia en route to New York, struck a terrific gale between Southampton and Cherbourg. The heavy seas smashed windows of the dining saloon and passengers were knocked down like nine pins, many received cuts and bruises through being dashed against tables. No one, however, was seriously hurt. The purser, W. D. Brown, was among those injured.

REPORTERS DINE COOLIDGE, HOOVER AND LONGWORTH
Washington, March 5.—President Coolidge and the two men most often mentioned as possible presidential candidates to succeed him—Secretary of Commerce Hoover and Speaker Nicholas Longworth—sat together as guests of honor at the annual luncheon of the White House Correspondents' association Friday night.

ADMIRAL ENDICOTT, RETIRED, DEAD AT 72
Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Rear Admiral M. T. Endicott, retired, of the navy corps of civil engineers, who was chief of the naval bureau of yards and docks in Spanish war days, died at his home here today at the age of 72.

Admiral Endicott was appointed to the engineer corps from civil life in 1874. He served as a member of both the Nicaraguan and isthmus commissions and retired in 1903, but continued in active status until 1909. He was recalled to active duty during the world war and served in the bureau of yards and docks at the navy department.

FIREMASTERS' BOARD DEADLOCK UNBROKEN

Failure marked the second attempt of the Atlanta board of firemasters Friday to elect a successor to the late Joe Anderson, assistant chief of the Atlanta fire department, and after taking four ballots the meeting was adjourned until March 31, when a third session will be held.

With lines drawn and no indication of weakening on the part of supporters of either of the two contenders for the post, the balloting stood four votes for Captain S. J. Jordan and four votes for Captain John Terrell.

Spirited speeches of supporters of Terrell enlivened the session but the vote showed that lines are not to be broken with addresses. It was indicated towards the end of the session that the board will be forced to agree on a third and now unnamed candidate.

Voting Friday stood as it did last Tuesday when the first meeting was held as follows:
For Terrell—Councilmen T. C. Morris, W. R. Johnson, Benjamin Hines and Mayor Walter A. Sims; for Jordan—Aldermen Guy Dobbs, Charles Ford and Oscar Williamson and Councilman W. E. Saunders.

Captain W. B. Fanning, of station No. 1, appointed acting assistant chief at last Tuesday's session, will continue to act until a successor to Mr. Anderson is named, and Chief W. B. Cody will appoint a lieutenant to act as captain to take Mr. Fanning's post, and a private will be appointed temporarily to take the place of the lieutenant who is to be elevated until the regular election is held, according to a ruling of the board.

Union Denies Reports.
Denial of reports that City Firemen's union, No. 134, was active in urging certain candidates for appointment or promotion in the fire department, was made Friday night in a statement by officials of the local as follows:
"There have been persistent rumors that the City Firemen's union, No. 134, of Atlanta has endorsed men for promotion to certain offices in the Atlanta fire department. Under a resolution passed by this local we have been instructed to publish in the Atlanta papers that these rumors are false."

"All candidates for these offices are members of our union and we consider all of them thoroughly competent, and also we are perfectly willing to trust to the intelligence of the future general assemblies."

Representative Jones, of Meriwether, who is chairman of the main committee, spoke in behalf of the bill of which he is author, calling for $70,000,000 in bonds and specifying trunk highways which are to be paved and the order in which they are to be paved.

Jones' Opinion Differs.
Representative Jones differed from the views of Representative Barrett, stating that he felt that there ought to be a pledge to the people of the state, in the constitutional amendment, that the bonds will be retired exclusively from taxes paid by vehicle users of roads. He also urged adoption of the bill names A. P. Brantley, of Blackshear; Eugene R. Black, of Atlanta; and W. C. Bradland, of Columbus.

The subcommittee will continue its work Monday and plans to conclude reading all bills pending and hearing full discussions by their authors before commencing the task of combining the best features of all into one composite measure which, it is hoped, will meet the approval of all bond advocates in the state.

A similar subcommittee of the educational bond bills will commence its active work Monday. This committee held a brief meeting after adjournment of the house Friday but merely decided then to hold its first business meeting Monday. Members of this subcommittee are Representatives Barrett, of Stephens, chairman; Hatcher, of Burke; Hopkins, of Thomas; Dorris, of Crisp; Williams, of Harris; Wood, of Fulton; Napier, of Bibb; McClure, of Walker; Erwin, of Clarke; Cludworth, of Wilkinson; Rivers, of Lanier, and Lawson, of Polaski.

GERMAN SINGER HAS NOSE SPLIT IN STAGE DUEL

When the curtain fell Rohnen ran to his dressing room and it was half an hour before the flow of blood could be stopped so that the wound could be dressed.

Judge T. E. Patterson And Wife Speakers At Dinner Meeting
Judge T. E. Patterson and Mrs. Patterson were the principal speakers at a meeting and dinner Friday night at College Park Methodist church.

STUDY OF HIGHWAY MEASURES BEGINS

The subcommittee of the constitutional amendments committee of the house Friday afternoon began study of various highway bond measures introduced, preparatory to drafting a substitute to be submitted to the main committee for approval.

The subcommittee consists of Representative Mann, of Glynn county, chairman; Representatives Lawton, of Chatham, Smith, of Grady, Dykes, of Bully; Howard, of Chattahoochee; Davis, of DeKalb; Duncan, of Houston; Hamilton, of Floyd; Stovall, of Elbert; Palmour, of Hall; Pilcher, of Richmond, and Humphreys, of Emanuel.

Representative Davis, of DeKalb, was named secretary of the subcommittee at its meeting Friday at the Kirkwood hotel.

Representative Mann read and described the measure which he has introduced, providing for a $90,000,000 bond issue. Under this bill there would be a bond commission of 12 members, charged with supervision of bond funds. The bill would require paving of 4,500 miles of roads, so selected as to link all county seats.

Three-sevenths of this mileage, approximately 1,800 miles, would be designated primary roads; the balance, approximately 2,700 miles, would be secondary roads. The bill provides that the cost of paving on the primary roads shall not exceed $27,000 per mile and on the secondary roads not over $15,000 per mile.

Bond Issue Outlined.
Bonds could be issued as needed in the judgment of the commission but not over $15,000,000 in any one year. The 4,500-mile system would be paved in less than six years and after that the surplus gasoline tax and motor vehicle fee money would be devoted to paying the balance of the state system of roads. Bonds in the sum of $10,000,000, are to be used to reimburse counties which already have paved their state highways, but this is not to be done until after the 4,500 miles are paved.

The bill provides further that the interest shall be paid and bonds retired out of gasoline tax and motor vehicle fee revenue, exclusively.

Representative Barrett, of Stephens, then spoke on his bill, which simply provides for amendment of the constitution to permit future legislatures to issue up to $75,000,000 in bonds for highway construction. Mr. Barrett urged passage of this measure, stating that all details of the bond issue and road paving should be left to future legislatures, stating that he was "perfectly willing to trust to the intelligence of the future general assemblies."

Representative Jones, of Meriwether, who is chairman of the main committee, spoke in behalf of the bill of which he is author, calling for $70,000,000 in bonds and specifying trunk highways which are to be paved and the order in which they are to be paved.

Jones' Opinion Differs.
Representative Jones differed from the views of Representative Barrett, stating that he felt that there ought to be a pledge to the people of the state, in the constitutional amendment, that the bonds will be retired exclusively from taxes paid by vehicle users of roads. SUNBURY CLAIMS FIRST AIRPLANE TRAFFIC ACCIDENT
Sunbury, Pa., March 5.—(AP)—This town today claimed the first airplane traffic accident.

Clinton Herb was the victim. Herb, an employee of the Susquehanna Silk and Hosiery Co., was on the roof of the plant when an airplane carrying mail roared toward him. Startled, he dodged, lost his balance and plunged down an elevator shaft. He was injured severely, but it is believed he will recover.

Herb said the plane almost touched him as he attempted to jump to safety.

DIVORCE SAPPING FABRIC OF HOME, MANNING ASSERTS
New York, March 5.—(AP)—Asserting that the "shocking and scandalous increases of divorce is destroying the very fabric of the home," Bishop William T. Manning issued a call to all churches, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, to "join in a common effort for the preservation of marriage and the home."

Speaking at a Lenten service at St. Thomas church, he deplored divorce especially when it is the forerunner of remarriage.

"The true cure for the divorce evil is to give Jesus Christ the place that belongs to him in our homes and in the life of our country," he said.

NEGROES WILL NOT ATTEND MEETING OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS
New York, March 5.—(AP)—Proposed segregation of negro delegates to the quadrennial meeting of the International Sunday School convention at Birmingham, Ala., to be held in April, has brought an announcement from three bodies of negro Methodists that they will not participate.

The signers are Ira T. Bryan, secretary of the A. M. E. Sunday School union; J. A. Martin, editor of the Sunday School literature, C. M. E. church, and J. C. Caldwell, editor of the Sunday School literature of the A. M. E. Zion church.

State Demands Death Penalty For 'Grandma'

Chicago, March 5.—Pounding upon the brass rail in front of the jury box state attorneys hammered home their closing arguments in the murder trial of Grandma Eliza Nushbaum today.

"You are pledged to inflict the death penalty where it is warranted on a woman as well as on a man," declared Assistant State's Attorney Mueller, striking 17 times upon the brass rail. "Hanging is a fitting penalty in this case."

Although Grandma Nushbaum did not do the actual killing, the state holds that she is just as responsible as John Walton Winn, her alleged lover, who has confessed that he hit Albert Nushbaum on the head with a hammer. The state claims "Grandma" and Winn conspired to put Nushbaum out of the way so that they could continue their relations unimpeded.

The case may go to the jury Saturday evening.

SUIT IS STARTED TO OUST ILLINOIS STATE'S ATTORNEY
(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Quawaka, Ill., March 5.—Proceedings have been started here to oust Harry G. Blackstone as state's attorney of Henderson county. Blackstone, who was a school teacher before his election two years ago, has never been admitted to the bar. After his election he appointed A. P. Farley as special state's attorney to take active charge of the duties of the office. The action is said to be a friendly suit to comply with a recent ruling of the state supreme court which held in effect that state's attorneys must be members of the bar. The case will be tried before Circuit Judge George Hilyer, of Macomb, here, March 9.

HEINZ FOR MAYOR BOOM LAUNCHED

A boom for Henry C. Heinz, prominent Atlantan and well-known financier, for mayor of Atlanta was launched Thursday afternoon by his friends at a meeting of the Civic club at the Ansley hotel.

Although it was decided that the club is a nonpolitical organization, and therefore cannot endorse or urge the candidacy of any person, members stated they would "invite Mr. Heinz to make the race in the interest of good government."

The executive committee of the club announced that, though its members would urge Mr. Heinz to enter the race "individually," the constitution and by-laws of the club would not permit them to put him forward as a club candidate.

"This is a critical time in Atlanta's history," Julian Boehm said in presenting the matter to the club, "and it is essential that we have an outstanding business man as the leader."

Mr. Heinz is a native Atlantan, and is vice president of the Citizens and Southern bank, treasurer of the International Association of Kiwanis Clubs, past potentate of Yarrab temple, and treasurer of the Dinkler Hotel corporation, operating the Piedmont and Ansley hotels in Atlanta and other large hostleries in Birmingham, Nashville and other leading southern cities. He is a son-in-law of Asa G. Candler, capitalist.

Mr. Boehm declared that his purpose in bringing Mr. Heinz's name before the club was not political, but in the interest of good government.

"I do not wish to plunge this club into a political fight, but I am interested in Atlanta's future," Mr. Boehm said.

The board of directors decided that the step would be virtually the injection of politics into the club.

The club endorsed the $8,000,000 bond proposal and paid a parting tribute to Dr. M. Ashby Jones, pastor of Ponce de Leon Baptist church, who has accepted the call of a St. Louis church. He was introduced by Rev. W. W. Memminger, rector of All Saints church. Harry Root, president, presided.

SECOND CAR SEIZED IN BANDIT SEARCH

Seizure by police early Friday morning of an expensive touring car on Peachtree street, may furnish a clue that will prove valuable in running down bandits who have been operating so boldly of late, in the opinion of Captain J. L. Gordon, of the morning police detail.

The automobile was abandoned by four young men who became alarmed when three officers entered a restaurant, across the street from where the car was parked, just a few minutes after the quartet had driven up in two large cars and entered the restaurant.

Jumping up suddenly as police entered, the four young men dashed out of the door and all leaped into one of the large cars, in front—the newest one of the two, and sped away.

The four men first came under observation of Patrolman S. C. Tuck when they entered the cafe, and he entered the place to investigate.

Just as Tuck stepped inside the door Patrolmen E. I. Hilderbrand and John Norton, who were returning to their beat from the station house, stopped to get a cup of coffee so frightened the men and they did not wait to eat, but fled.

Just what clues police had uncovered with reference to the car would not be divulged Friday. It was admitted, however, that it was being held along with the car that bandits abandoned Wednesday night at Peachtree and Third streets, and that the car's numbers "had thrown some light on the matter."

Japan Alarmed Over Advance Of Communism

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
Tokio, March 5.—The spread of Russian communism in Japan and the danger of Russian aggression in Manchuria were the subjects of fiery speeches in the diet in the last few days, in which the administration was accused of cowardice and timidity in facing the situation.

The diet held an executive session yesterday to permit the premier to explain the existing status of the communistic movement in Japan and the steps that are being taken to combat it. The premier stated that while there are many rumors of the existence of a widespread propaganda campaign, the government possesses no definite evidence and is therefore inclined to view the situation as being of little danger.

The possibility of a war with Russia is being openly discussed, while Vladimir Manchuk, the soviet organ at Berlin, carries an article from a former Russian general staff officer stating that war in Manchuria between Russia and Japan is inevitable, should both persist in their present course.

GIRL SCOUT HEADS SEE EXHIBITION OF SAFETY WORK

A team of employees of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company under direction of W. C. Hunt, division supervisor of safety methods, were in charge of the session of Girl Scout officers Thursday afternoon at the chamber of commerce.

Mr. Hunt spoke on need for knowledge among laymen of first aid treatment of the injured. He told of classes of this kind given all over the country by the National Red Cross association.

The team was composed of T. H. Seay, instructor; J. L. Stork, captain; R. R. Brooks, C. J. Millett, G. C. Vaughn, A. A. Speltz, and R. H. Smith. They gave demonstrations in caring for sprains, severe cuts, bandaging and transporting injured persons.

Miss Lillian Alexander, director of city health nurses, announced that first aid certificates for leaders who complete the course were ready at the city hall. Knowledge of this subject is one of the first requirements of the Girl Scout organization. Tickets for the scout pageant, "A Vision of Youth," are on sale. Mrs. Frank Holland announced. She said nearly all box seats had been sold but other choice seats are available. Tickets are on sale at Girl Scout headquarters, 614 Chamber of Commerce building. The pageant will be presented at the Auditorium March 12, at 8 o'clock and every troop in Atlanta will be represented.

The issue contains some interesting facts concerning the automobile growth in the United States and compares the value of 20 years ago with those of today.

Decree Granted English Captain In Army Scandal

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)
London, March 5.—A decree nisi was granted to Captain Frank Simmons, of the British war office, against his wife, Amy Simmons, in the London divorce courts today, following revelations of her alleged misconduct with Colonel John Denis Bingham, who is a distinguished soldier and D. S. O., and was chosen to play polo with the English team against the United States polo team in 1914.

The court was regaled with the reading of the love letters of the Colonel and Mrs. Simmons in which the former outdid Romeo in passionate apostrophes calling her "Heaven's Delight," "Beautiful Princess," and "Little Master."

Captain Simmons was married in 1922, at which time his wife was master of fox-hounds and a great lover of sports. Three months after that she met the colonel.

Captain Simmons, finding his wife's affections waning, reproached her for her friendship with Colonel Bingham which she denied was more than platonic, until he discovered the letters, through the aid of a friend.

Captain Simmons then wrote to the colonel, demanding that he cease seeing his wife and calling him a "cad" and "unspeakable blackguard."

It was revealed in court that the colonel went to Egypt, but continued to write passionate letters. Captain Simmons finally obtained hotel evidence against the couple, which resulted in his filing the suit.

The colonel, it was revealed, urged Mrs. Simmons to get a divorce in any fashion and both described the husband as a "warrior" in their letters. Two members of the jury were women.

It was stated at the federal building that an attorney representing Remus, who filed a counter suit for divorce, also is in Athens gathering evidence to be submitted in behalf of his client. The divorce case of the Remuses will come up for hearing in Cincinnati soon.

COOLIDGE OPPOSES AIR FUND BOOST

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—Indications were given at the white house today that President Coolidge is opposed to any considerable increase in appropriations for army and navy aviation.

The president believes that the budget estimate of $674,000,000 for war and navy department activities during the coming fiscal year should be ample to take care of efforts to strengthen the air services.

As for men, if it should be decided to increase the number engaged in aviation, he is of the opinion they could be taken from other branches of the two services without weakening the general military structure.

CELIA SURPRISES HILARY.

When Hilary had suggested Laura's maid for Celia she had said that if he didn't mind she would rather take the trip without any maid. "We were taught to do everything for ourselves at the convent, and I like it. Besides, Phipps is always seasick." But she had asked if Donovan might come to her as maid on her return.

"You love your old nurse, don't you?" Hilary had asked. "She was very good to me," Celia had answered. One of Laura's friends engaged Phipps, and it was arranged that Donovan should come to Celia when they returned to New York. Hilary quite understood how the girl would feel free and more comfortable on her strange wedding journey without a maid prying about. "She's a sensible child," he thought, comfortably.

When she said to him one day: "Please don't think I shall upset your household. . . . Servants like me, because I don't interfere with them. Things shall go on just as you've always had them. . . ."

When she said this he felt positively like hugging her. It had been the one point on which he had had qualms. He did very nearly give her a kiss the second day out, when she made another remark even more soothing and sensible.

They were sitting together in one of the great, deserted saloons, during a furious squall of sleet, and Hilary had been trying to make conversation by questioning her about her life at the convent. All at once she said:

"Please don't worry to talk to me. I never mind being alone, and I know you would like to write on your book. . . . That would make me happy. . . . I mean it will make me really happy to think you will never have me on your mind. . . . That you can work hours and hours and know that I am quite contented to be alone. . . . Please. . . ." she ended, smiling her faint smile at him. "That's one of my queerest that ought to suit you. . . ."

It did suit him; as has been said, it suited him so perfectly that he came near kissing her in his gratitude. He was through two-thirds of his book, and had sketched out the more important chapters of the last part. Days like this, when he was kept below by bad weather, were ideal for working. He paid her the compliment of believing in her sincerity, and taking her at her word.

When he went to look at her five hours later he stopped in the door of the reading room, charmed by her strange yet wonderfully graceful antics.

There was no one else in the room, almost all the passengers having kept their cabins since the first day out; and Celia, thinking herself unobserved, was juggling three oranges with the skill of a practiced acrobat. The movement of the steamer, which was both rolling and pitching in a heavy cross sea, forced her to swing herself into all sorts of fantastic poses in order to keep her balance and the three golden balls tossing.

As she caught sight of Hilary watching her she stopped short, and two of the oranges went rolling about the floor.

"I had to have some exercise," she explained a little breathlessly, coming up to him.

"You spoke once of my not having you taught to work with your hands," replied Hilary, as he helped her retrieve the wildly rolling oranges. "What you've taught them to do yourself is remarkable. I'm sure you could command a high salary as a juggler," he ended, laughing, and handing her back the orange he had raked out from under an easy chair.

"Yes, I've quite a turn for juggling," she replied, gravely. "I can keep six things going at once when the floor's steady."

Here the first bugle call for dinner interrupted them.

"I must go tidy my hair," said Celia, pulling one of her big loosened braids over her shoulder, and as she went toward the door she stopped to pick up a book that was lying face down on a sofa near it.

"What's that you're reading?" asked Hilary in surprise, for he had never yet seen her with a book.

"Epictetus," she answered.

Then he recalled her allusion to the "open door. . . . What a queer child it was! To select of all traveling companions the 'nobilissimi Stoici.' And yet there was in truth something of the Stoic in her, after all. He took the little volume from her hand and began turning the pages curiously. Sentences were marked here and there. He read them, while Celia stood, calmly waiting, the oranges gathered into a scarf that she had picked up with the book.

Hilary read: "If you love an earthen jar, then think, I love an earthen jar, for so shall you not be troubled when it breaks."

Again: "What is death? A bugbear. Turn it round; examine it; see, it does not bite. Now or later, that which is body must be parted from that which is spirit, as formerly it was parted."

Again—ah! here it was! The open door. . . . "Doth it smoke in the chimney? If it is not very much I will stay; if too much, I will go out; remember this always, and hold fast to it, that door is open. . . . in Gyara. I will live in Gyara. But living in Gyara seemeth to me in Gyara. I will depart; whither no man shall hinder me to that dwelling stands ever open to all."

"Tell me, Celia," he said, looking at her with a new and deeper interest, "how did you come to read Epictetus?"

"It was by accident," she answered. "I don't care much for reading, but I like to open books and read sentences by chance, sometimes. I opened this one in the preface. . . . where it tells how Epictetus was the slave of a cruel man called Epaphroditus. . . . how one day Epaphroditus was twisting his slave's leg for fun. . . . Epictetus said, 'If you will go on you will break my leg.' The brute did go on, and broke his leg, but all that Epictetus said was, 'Didn't I tell you you would break my leg?'"

"I liked that so much. It was just the way I would have liked to behave—so I wanted to know all about Epictetus."

Hilary remembered how she had once said to him about her father, "It made him worse because I wouldn't cry."

Here was a fine nature as well as a queer one. He gave her back the little volume, and put his hand affectionately on her shoulder.

"Yes, he was a very great old fellow," he said, smiling. "But I differ with him about the open door. . . . You must promise me, please, to leave that out of your philosophy."

At once her face assumed its locked expression.

"I've promised myself never to promise," she said, after a second's pause.

Hilary knew that look well by now, and didn't attempt to argue.

"At least," he said, "let me feel that you're not longing to go through it any more."

She smiled now, and there was gratitude in her quick glance up at him, then away.

"No," she said, "it was very smoky in my little chamber life. . . . but you blew all the smoke away."

"You are a dear child," exclaimed Hilary. "I thank my stars that I've adopted you!"

Here the second bugle sounded, and they both hurried off to dress or dinner.

On the first evening of their return to New York Hilary broke his old rule by taking Celia to the library and asking her to sit in the carved chair as he had once imagined her.

She was wearing a gown of old French brocade, with little silver tassels scattered over it, and a net of emeralds, his wedding gift, on her hair.

S. I. A. A. CHAMPIONS ELIMINATED IN SEMI-FINALS

EDITED BY
H.C. HAMILTON

Billy Gibson Admits Tunney Is Signed With Jack Dempsey

Bout Set For August 26 or 27 if Champion is Willing—
Twelve Rounds Scheduled For
Boyles' 30 Acres.

Miami, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, American light-heavyweight boxing champion, today announced that he had received no information that Jack Dempsey had signed for a bout with his protégé.

Gibson issued a statement to the Associated Press following reports from New York that a bout between the two fighters had been arranged, under the promotion of Tex Rickard.

Thirty acres, next August for 12 round, no-decision affair with the championship of the world at stake. Tentative dates of August 26 or 27 were reported set.

"I have entered into agreement with Rickard for a championship bout between Tunney and Dempsey, in the event that the latter signs, but haven't received any notification that the champion has yet been matched," Gibson declared.

"Rickard and I thrashed the matter out when I went to New York in December especially for this purpose and discussed tentative arrangements while he was in New York recently. Since that time I have received a number of telegrams from Rickard, but I hardly think that Dempsey has been signed."

"Personally I don't think Dempsey will ever fight. I think I have been 'bullied' ever since he won his last fight and it looks like he will continue to do so."

"As for Tunney and myself, we are both ready for the fight at any time, any place, anywhere. We have repeatedly said this. But I still think the champion is 'bullied'."

REFEREE SELECTED FOR STRIBLING BOUT.
Miami, Fla., March 4.—(AP)—Ed Dickerson, sports editor of the Grand Rapids (Mich.) Herald, today was selected as referee for the Gene Tunney-Young Stripling fight at Hialeah on March 12.

The announcement was made at noon following a prolonged three-day conference between promoter Jesse Bagh, Billy Gibson, manager of Tunney, and "Pa" Stripling, father-manager of the Georgia pugilist. The naming of the third man in the ring for this event came on the heels of conflicting reports from various sections of the nation that the affair had been called off.

Vigorous denial of this rumor was made by promoter Bagh, who further announced that the stadium being erected at Hialeah to seat 30,000 people would be completed by tomorrow except for the installation of lighting fixtures.

Dickerson was named as arbiter from a field of ten other possible referees, one of whom was Harry Erle, of New York. Stripling's objection to Erle was raised by "Pa" Stripling, who recalled the Mike McGuire-Stripling fight several years ago in Columbus, Ga., in which the Irishman earned a questionable decision over the Macon schoolboy.

Other third men suggested included Patsy Haley, Kid McPartland, James "Slim" Brennan, Johnny Gallagher, of New York; Joe McElroy and Al Wambagans, of New Orleans; Matt Hinkel, of Cleveland; Ed W. Smith, of Chicago, and Charley Wheeler, of Miami.

COACHLESS TEAM WINS BASKET TOURNEY

Thomasville, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—The girls of the Meigs High school basketball team are receiving many congratulations upon their work in winning the south Georgia championship in the tournament with Moultrie. This is especially to be remarked upon, as the girls had no coach and nobody in the Meigs school who knew enough to coach or referee a game of basketball. Their record is 19 games played and 17 won, Pava and Albany being the only teams scoring wins against them during the season.

JONES STARTS PRACTICE FOR HAGEN BATTLE

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Bobby Jones, national amateur golf champion, will arrive here tomorrow to get in a practice round before he meets Walter Hagen, national professional champion, in the final 36 holes of the 72-hole match play game.

Hagen led Jones by eight holes, after the first 36 at Sarasota last Sunday. The Pasadena course is in fine condition for the final chapter in this match. The greens are perfect and the fairways provide good lies. The course will measure about 6,500 yards. St. Petersburg is prepared to entertain the largest crowd which ever witnessed a golf game in this state. A number of prominent Atlantans are expected here to root for Jones. Hagen is determined to win a decisive victory. He does not consider a victory will be convincing unless he leads Jones over his own course at Pasadena, even if his lead enables him to come out with a win in the 72-hole match. Jones and his followers do not consider Hagen's lead is too great to be overcome if the amateur champion gets going and can deliver a good enough round of golf in the morning to cut into Hagen's lead and lead him in the fight over the final 18 holes.

Middle Ga. Cage Tourney Begins

Cordele, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—Shelton took the first game of the Georgia basketball tournament here today, when it eliminated Hawkinsville, 41 to 6. Montezuma followed as victor over Pinehurst, 24 to 16 being the score. This afternoon Vienna eliminated Lumpkin, 45 to 11. Leslie beat the Unadilla team, 21 to 11.

Cordele came through by default last night, Richmond failing to show up, and they will play Ashburn. Shelton will tackle Montezuma in the game which follows.

The semi-finals will be played at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning, and the finals at 8:30 o'clock Saturday night. Vienna, Leslie, Shelton, Ashburn and Montezuma are hard contenders for the final honors.

Banquet To Be Given Tiger Flowers Monday

Tiger Flowers, colored, middleweight champion boxer of the world, will be given a unique banquet Monday night by his people at the Big Bethel church.

The colored people in the community wanted to bestow some gift to the boxer. A committee decided that a banquet would be appropriate thing to show they enjoy and rejoice in his winning the recent fight, which meant the world championship in the middleweight class for the Georgia negro.

Many interesting talks will be given. Snappy entertainments, including actors from a visiting colored show, are scheduled for the banquet. Guests must purchase tickets before entering the banquet.

BASKET CHAMPS WELCOMED HOME

Chapel Hill, N. C., March 5.—(Special.)—The University of North Carolina basketball team, just back from the Southern Conference tournament in Atlanta, where they won the championship for the fourth time in five years, were given an enthusiastic welcome home by the student body.

A meeting was held in the chapel to congratulate the champions on the honor they bestowed upon their alma mater, when they won the championship. The victorious team was present, but due to their exhaustion, they were too modest to be presented before the delegation.

TECH GOLFERS DEFEAT TEAM AT DRUID HILLS

Playing their first match of the season, the Georgia Tech golf team defeated the directors of Druid Hills Golf club over the Druid Hills course Friday afternoon, 12 to 1. The match was scored by the Nassau method of scoring, giving the winner of each nine holes one point, and one point for the match.

Although it was the first time out for the Yellow Jacket golfers this season, the boys made a wonderful debut, and judging from the outcome of the first match, they will cause any golf team around these parts of the country a lot of trouble.

Watts Gunn was in the best of form, as usual, played a brilliant game of golf against the opposing golfers. His drives were as pretty as one could possibly want, and his iron shots were perfect, with distance and accuracy galore. Playing on the order of Gunn was Spalding, captain of the team, getting some fine shots from the tee and making beautiful iron shots to the greens.

Playing in the individual matches, Watts Gunn won two points from Dana Belser and valued one point. Buchanan outplayed W. F. Spalding, Sr. for two points and broke even on one point. Williams won three points from Lloyd Parks by winning the two nine-hole matches and the point on the match for three points. Bill Spalding broke even on one nine match and won the second nine for two points.

In the foursome match Watts Gunn and Bill Spalding, Jr., son of W. F. Spalding, finished all even, while their teammates, Buchanan and Williams, took their opponents to ride for the whole three points offered one point. Both teams played fine golf throughout the matches, especially did the Tech boys. They were in fine shape and let themselves out in the initial match. The directors furnished good opposition against the young golfers, making it hard for the Yellow Jacket to accomplish much at times. The complete schedule for the Georgia Tech team has not been arranged, and it is not known when the Yellow Jacket will stage another match.

Delaney Will Apply For Citizenship Papers

New York, March 5.—Jack Delaney, fighter, of Canada, Bridgeport, Conn., and Max, has decided to apply for citizenship papers after being considered anything but foreign in his American appearances. Delaney's name is characteristic of the early days of an announcer pronounced it so it sounded to the reporters like "Jack Delaney." It has stuck to him.

Glenna Collett Faces 17-Year-Old in Finals

St. Augustine, Fla., March 5.—Miss Glenna Collett, national woman's golf champion, will have 17-year-old Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, to contend with for the Florida East Coast golf championship in the final match here Saturday.

The young Chicago star, who recently won the Florida open at Palm Beach, defeated Miss Dorothy Klotz, of Chicago, 4 and 2, in a semi-final match Friday. Miss Collett, playing almost perfect golf, won her match from Miss Frances Hadfield, of Milwaukee, 6 and 5.

Miss Klotz, who won the South Atlantic championship at Ormond last week, defeating Miss Van Wie, Miss Collett and Miss Mary E. Browne on successive days, could not match the steadiness of the young star in Friday's match.

WOMAN MADE BOXING 'CZAR' OF N. Y.

Albany, N. Y., March 5.—After the first of next year, under the Hughes plan of state government reorganization, the state athletic commission would be merged with the department of state, which makes Mrs. Florence E. S. Knapp, New York's secretary of state, virtually "czar" of boxing.

When Mrs. Knapp learned this she announced she was going to New York city to see a bout—her first.

"And I want it to be a good one, too," she added. "Since the Hughes report was made public, I've been deluged with demands for complimentary tickets. I never knew so many people were interested in boxing. I'm going down to see why it is."

Sportively Speaking by H.C. HAMILTON

K. O. Eggers Arrives.
Charley Thompson.
Crackers Depart.

MR. K. O. EGGERS, who has been billed to Atlantans as a junior welterweight of parts, but who actually tips the scale around 125 pounds, is in Atlanta and wants to know "how come" all this fuss about the ability of Hollis Sullivan, the Marietta realist. In other words, Eggers, who at one time was believed to be a logical challenger for the bantamweight title and later for the featherweight crown, would like nothing better than a chance to get in the ring and sock the daylight out of the promising young Georgian.

As a personal thing I do not believe that Eggers can now or ever could beat Sullivan, but inasmuch as he is one of the most rugged scrappers in the country I would like to see him trade punches with Sullivan. Billy Lotz has the match under consideration and may stage it.

I DO not know that Atlantans will sit up and take notice of the fact any more than they do of ordinary events, but while the news is hot I want to introduce Charley Thompson, who has just been appointed official announcer for the Atlanta boxing commission. Charley has a letter, duly signed by Claude Buchanan, announcing the fact.

Charles is no mean announcer. When he gets into the center of a ring and begins pointing with pride the rafters sing at the reverberation of his voice. Joe Humphreys at his best was no better than Charles. He may know a few more words than Charles, but he sticks them in funny places, which is something Charles does not do. We wish Charles many happy returns of the day and hope he does not develop a crop of adenoids.

SUNDAY night the 1926 Crackers, or what remnants of them have drifted into Atlanta, will climb aboard a train and pull away from here. We have been reading here and there about some baseball clubs from such places as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, etc., but from Sunday night on the Atlanta populace which cares for baseball will train an ear and an eye only towards Thomasville, where the champions of the Southern league will be in training.

We all hope, of course, that another pennant will be won by the Crackers. And another thing well known is that the Crackers will be stronger when they take the field this year than when they left it a year ago. The only uncertain point on the team is at shortstop and Durocher comes so highly recommended that it is certainly possible that he will be as good as Mike Gazella. The pitching staff has been strengthened each season of the Crackers which was not so well bolstered last year. At any rate, Bert Niehoff will carry south with him the hopes and the confidence of the fans.

HELEN REACHES FINALS IN NET TOURNAMENT

Mentone, France, March 5.—(AP)—Continuing her invincible play, Helen Willis, American lawn tennis champion, advanced to the final bracket of the Mentone tournament today by defeating Miss E. H. Harvey, of England, in straight sets at 6-0, 6-1.

The first half ended with the Smithies leading, 26 to 12. The whistle blew for the second half; the Smithies flew into the Boys' High like a tornado and swept them off their feet. Gilham again ran away with the high-point honors, shooting 14, but was closely followed by his teammates. Cook shot 12 and Kirkers for himself. Miss Klotz, who won the South Atlantic championship at Ormond last week, defeating Miss Van Wie, Miss Collett and Miss Mary E. Browne on successive days, could not match the steadiness of the young star in Friday's match.

Atlanta Woman Complimented By Country Life Association

Mrs. Ira E. Farmer left today for Chicago, where she will attend a conference of 15 women from various sections of the United States on "What the Farm Woman Wants." The conference was called by the American Country Life Association for the purpose of assembling women who understand the problems of the farm women in all sections and because of the question of better schools in reach of the children of the farms and better living conditions in the farm homes depend in a large measure the agricultural future of the United States.

Mrs. Farmer, besides having been actively engaged in farming for a number of years, has, through her club work as chairman of home demonstration work for the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs and through her work during the war period in food production, administration and conservation, has a first-hand knowledge of the needs of the southern farm woman. Since coming to Atlanta she has devoted much attention to bringing before clubwomen the interdependence of country and city and the need of cooperation of citizens of both sections for the full development of Georgia. In her position of director of public relations with M. Rich & Bros. Co., she has had ample opportunity to develop this phase of work and will, while in Chicago, make a study of work being done by the great department stores along similar lines.

Miss Perle Bokritzky sings "When Grandma Was a Girl" and will wear a specially made old-fashioned costume.

Fear New Plea To Permit Kaiser To Leave Holland

(Copyright, 1926, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Berlin, March 5.—Twenty-four hours before the officials of the German republic enter Swiss territory to join the society of nations, Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm Hohenzollern has established his headquarters at Lucerne. Berlin fears that the Crown Prince will take up negotiations with the statesmen of the allied countries and Germany, assembled at Geneva, in behalf of the kaiser.

In the general spirit of reconciliation among European nations, the kaiser hopes that politicians who are settling Europe's problems at the gates of Geneva, will have no objection to his leaving Holland for a vacation in some other country.

The climate in Holland does not agree with Kaiserin Hermine and the family are endeavoring to move southward, possibly to Spain. The kaiser is reported to have given up the idea of returning to Germany at present. Crown Prince Rupprecht, of Bavaria, is proceeding to Lucerne to assist the Hohenzollern family in this difficult diplomatic task.

MOTHER OF SEVEN CHILDREN

Helped in Caring for them by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Glasgow, Ky.—"I am the mother of seven children, the eldest being only 12 years, and I feel that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped to pull me through the roughest places of my married life. At one time I was so downhearted that life was a misery. A friend in Indianapolis, Indiana, told me of the Vegetable Compound, and after taking a few bottles of it I became myself again and it was a pleasure to do my housework and gardening. Since then I always use your medicine when I feel weak from overwork and it straightens me out."

Mrs. MELISSA BARNES, Route 2, care of O. F. Steenbergen, Glasgow, Ky.

New Orleans, La.—"I could not do a thing after my first boy was born. I was so weak, I had no appetite, lost weight and was not able to do my work. I was this way for seven weeks, then I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and got wonderful results from it."

"Peachy" Sponsors Selected To Represent This Fair City At Peach Blossom Festival

What a happy choice was Mr. Hoffman's, president of the chamber of commerce, when it fell upon Mary McCarty and Mary Rhorer for this year's sponsors at the Fort Valley Peach Blossom festival!

This is a very happy and much looked forward to annual event in Georgia.

There are always thousands of visitors from all over the United States and that Atlanta is properly and fittingly represented is most important.

Mr. Hoffman has chosen wisely! "Peachy" (excuse the slang, but it is so apropos) are both of these Atlanta girls, indeed!

In vindication and taking the surmise that you are not sufficiently versed in street vernacular to precisely know what "peachy" means, we would add that that is exactly the other way of saying "representative" and that is what these two girls are—representative Atlanta girls, if we know what that term stands for!

And certainly no two girls have we whose faces more closely approximate the fairest of "blossoms" than do Mary's and Mary's.

The first has the beauty, with her dark hair and eyes, lovely features and alabaster skin of a rich, gorgeous, light-colored pearly, the other—Mary Rhorer—really carries the thought in her face of an exquisitely delicate and fragrant peachblossom.

And so to the Peach Blossom carnival at Fort Valley Atlanta is sending peachy blossoms of her very own cultivation and vintage!

No one ever thought Fort Valley could teach us how to grow peaches anyway!

Objects of Interest.

In the art exposition at the Woman's club, which closed yesterday, there were so many wonderful things eliciting unusual interest and challenging study and research.

We wish we could have held on to this permanent aggregation for study and reference.

Two very interesting things seen yesterday were the old ivory coffer of Mrs. Emma Garret Boyd's collection and some brass idols belonging to Mrs. High's display case.

Joan D'Arc.

In the magnificent carving on this old ivory chest of Mrs. Boyd's collection.

seen the very real skill of some artist of the early seventeenth century.

A reliquary, used as a repository for the ashes of, supposedly, Saint Jeanne D'Arc, is this remarkable piece.

Not over eighteen inches long is this little coffer—rich in beauty and historic significance is it. The front is supported by columns, forming panels which are representative of the different periods of France's tragic history of Jeanne's time.

The whole edifice is mounted on a veritable ebony stand.

A perfect little gem is this.

India's Idols.

From France and her blood-soaked soil of the seventeenth century, we turned the pages back to early India and her paganism, in viewing Mrs. High's exhibit.

In Mrs. High's many interesting trips around the world she has made some marvelous collections of things of priceless, artistic and historic value.

From Tibet, purchased in Darjeeling, has she brought a brass prayer-wheel.

Just what significance this had in the old pagan consciousness I can't tell you, but it is most interesting to behold. It is cylindrical in shape and onto the end of a rod, perhaps a foot long. It is exquisitely engraved in symbolic figures of old Hindustan religions.

Inside are many yards of parchment in a roll upon which is the repetition many times over of the inscription which translated means, "The Jewel of the Lotus, the Jewel of the Lotus."

In the same collection of bronzes are many six-armed Hindu deities and ghost dancers bought in Penzance, India.

Mrs. High's collection alone was worthy of being called an "art exposition."

HUNDREDS WATCH AS NEGRO HANGS

Lexington, Ky., March 5.—(AP)—Ed Harris, negro, was hanged at the Fayette county jail here this morning at 6:17 o'clock. He was convicted of attacking a Kentucky woman on January 19 after he had slain her husband and two children. The negro was pronounced dead at 6:30 a. m.

The court yard was crowded with people who witnessed the hanging. Two hundred negro persons who could not gain entrance viewed the hanging from a nearby garage, at two dollars a seat.

Although the sentence pronounced upon Harris stated that he should be "hanged by the neck until dead in the presence of not exceeding 100 persons," approximately four times that many gained admittance to the jail yard, while hundreds more swarmed on the roofs of nearby buildings or looked out of windows.

The negro died on the gallows without benefit of clergy. His voice failing him as he sought to make a promised statement from the seat, Harris mumbled, "Just wish them goodbyes," and made a slight sign to his executioners to proceed.

Speedy Justice.

The crime for which Harris paid his life today was committed just six weeks ago yesterday.

On the night of Thursday, January 21, the negro murdered a farmer and his two small children; attacked the farmer's wife and then shot her and left her for dead.

She made her way painfully to a nearby house and summoned aid. She named John Henry Jones, an alias used by Harris, as her attacker.

A wide search was begun immediately for the slayer and through a tip furnished by George Blanchard, another negro, Harris was captured at Georgetown, Ky., the next day. He was taken directly to the Frankfort reformatory for safekeeping.

White convicts wanted to have Harris lynched, but order was restored without difficulty.

While in a reformatory Harris confessed to the crime, claiming that he was dissatisfied with a deal in which he had traded Bryant an automobile for a cow.

Guard Called Out
Guaranteed almost 1,000 Kentucky national guardsmen were on trial before Circuit Judge Richard Stoll in Fayette circuit court on February 2.

The commonwealth elected to try him on an indictment charging assault with conviction in this case carried death by hanging.

Three murder indictments were not taken up since conviction for any capital offense, except criminal attack, provides execution in the electric chair, but the law provides that the county wanted to have Harris hanged near the scene of his crimes.

Harris pleaded guilty and was sentenced to be hanged Friday, March 5. The trial lasted exactly 16 minutes.

He was hustled back to the reformatory whence he had been brought a few hours before the trial.

Immediately before and during the trial, Lexington was in the hands of the guardsmen, who were equipped with whippet tanks, machine guns, tear gas bombs and small arms.

PLUNGED INTO LAKE

Mt. Clematis, Mich., March 5.—Air men have given up hope of finding five members of the James Phipps family who are believed to have perished when their automobile crashed through the ice of Lake Erie.

Lieutenant Lawrence Elliott, of Selfridge field, skinned over the lake all Friday afternoon, returning to his base towards night and reporting that the ice was full of holes, but that he had seen no signs of the missing family.

Johnson-Schall Probe Discloses Charge of Fraud

Washington, March 5.—(AP)—A direct charge that money was collected from indicted bootleggers at Senator Thomas D. Schall's headquarters at the West hotel, in Minneapolis during 1924 campaign, today was placed in the record of the Johnson-Schall senatorial contest hearing before a senate elections sub-committee.

The charge was contained in a telegram quoting Gale A. Plagman, of Minneapolis, as making the statement. The telegram was from Henry Teigen, former secretary to Magnus Johnson, and purported to give Plagman's full statement on the subject.

Immediately after this message was placed in the record, Chairman Denon said in evidence a telegram from three detectives of Minneapolis in which they stated that Plagman had been "arrested for... drunkenness, and non-support."

The telegram added that the authorities now were looking for him and understood he had gone to southern Minnesota.

The telegram was signed by John T. Staples, chief detective, and Charles Kelso and J. C. Rhodes, city detectives.

HARRIS OPPOSES
PRESENT BILLS
FOR NEW JUDGE

Washington, March 5.—(Special.) Senator Harris voiced his vigorous opposition to the proposal for appointment of an additional federal judge in the district of Columbia.

"I am strongly in favor of a new judicial district, but I will emphatically contest the plan to impose upon Georgia a floating judge, which arrangement has always proved unsatisfactory wherever it has been used."

"I am strongly in favor of a new judicial district, but I will emphatically contest the plan to impose upon Georgia a floating judge, which arrangement has always proved unsatisfactory wherever it has been used."

Paris, March 5.—(AP)—Cesare Rossi, erstwhile lieutenant of Premier Mussolini and allegedly responsible for the murder of the Italian socialist deputy, Matteotti, is at present working to get the Paris police, who are not yet satisfied with the confession he made, to let him go.

As a result of secret advice to the effect that the fascists have sworn to the "renegade," the entire French secret service has been called upon to protect the outcast. Unfortunately, the Paris police have no description of Rossi's appearance, and he is being sought by the French secret service.

He is being sought by the French secret service, and he is being sought by the French secret service.

Rossi, meanwhile, has been telegraphing to Paris newspapers, attempting to sell the story of his part in the Matteotti affair for a fantastic price.

HEARING DENIED WRIGHT CASE

Greensboro, Ga., March 5.—(Special.)—Attorneys for Ted Coggeshall and F. W. McClelland, under sentence of death for the murder on March 4, 1925, of Professor W. C. Wright, superintendent of Putnam county schools, today presented Judge James B. Park, of the Ocmulgee superior court circuit, an extraordinary motion for new trial upon the grounds of alleged newly discovered evidence to prove that the defendants were not in Putnam county on the day Professor Wright was slain.

Judge Park in refusing to entertain the motion said: "Counsel for movants had not given to Joseph B. Duke, solicitor general of said circuit, the 20 days' notice as required by section 1001 of the penal code of Georgia of the intention of filing said motion, and also upon the grounds that under the decisions of the supreme court such motion could only be presented during a regular term of the superior court, and Putnam superior court will not convene until March 15, 1926."

The motion today was presented by J. A. Branch, one of the attorneys for Coggeshall and McClelland.

January 29 was the last date set for electrocution of the two men sentenced to death in the Wright case, and a respite granted by the governor stayed the execution date until March 25.

The week-end statistics had no apparent effect on sentiment in the market. The market was rather quiet, with a slight advance in the cotton market, and a slight decline in the grain market.

BANKERS ACCUSED IN ST. PAUL HEARING

Chicago, March 5.—(AP)—Serious charges were made against Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the National City bank and the directors of the bankrupt Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, in the hearing of the federal judge J. L. Miller, former governor of New York, in the case of the bondholders' defense committee.

Mr. Miller denied the railroad was bankrupt when Judge Wright was called upon to act on an involuntary petition filed March 18, and asserted the proceedings were forced by Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and the National City bank, and the puppet of these banks, the directors of the St. Paul railroad, through a prearranged plan.

He said he declined to use the word "conspiracy," but he gave the court a legal definition of it along with his accusation against the New York banks and the road's directors.

He said the reorganization plan put forward by the stockholders was a promise to pay 53 cents on the dollar to holders of the junior bonds and to squeeze out all stockholders who could not stand an assessment of $30 a share.

Amusements
At Atlanta Theater.
Claire McDowell, one of the screen's foremost character women, plays the role of the villainess in the new picture, "The Big Parade," now delighting capacity houses at the Atlanta theater, where it will be shown twice a day, at 2:30 and 8:30 o'clock, with positively the last performance next Saturday night.

Miss McDowell has been one of the stars of the long New York stage, where she was a leading woman of prominence.

The picture brought her to the notice of the public as a character woman was the mother of Mary Pickford in "Heart of the Hills," still remembered as one of the finest of her pictures.

She is now playing the part of the mother of Hur in the gigantic production of "Ben Hur," and was last seen as Lon Chaney's wife in Victor Seastrom's production of "The Sign of the Cross."

Loew's Grand.
The Royal Peking Troupe in a real Oriental "wonder show" will appear at four performances on the bill of today's matinee at Loew's Grand theater. This troupe has won warm praise for the high class program offered and has been characterized as one of the greatest theatrical attractions of any kind ever seen in Atlanta.

Other acts on the bill are Al Abbott, in "A Home Talent Show," De Bee and Weldon, singing and dancing, musical skin comedy, Joe Smith's Seven Rainbow Girls in a pretty dancing act, and Butler and Parker in a comedy sketch, "Elinor Clay."

"Soul Mates," is the Loew feature picture offering.

Keith's Forsyth.
Saturday will see the concluding performance of the exceptional vaudeville bill at Keith's Forsyth theater where vaudeville of a "different" sort has been presented the last half of this week. The program is headed by Bert Lahr and Mercedes.

Other acts on the bill are Al Abbott, in "A Home Talent Show," De Bee and Weldon, singing and dancing, musical skin comedy, Joe Smith's Seven Rainbow Girls in a pretty dancing act, and Butler and Parker in a comedy sketch, "Elinor Clay."

The Howard.
Disabled veterans had their day in pictures at the Paramount studio while Director Edward Sutherland was making "The Road to Yesterday," a comedy of the A. E. F., which is playing at the Howard all this week.

More than four hundred veterans were hired through the American Legion employment office. "Behind the Front" features Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton as a pair of buck private who are both in love with the same girl, Mary Brian, a Red Cross worker.

The Metropolitan.
Final showings of "Irene," the latest Colleen Moore-First National feature, will close this week. The musical comedy hit of the same name, "Irene," was adopted from the musical comedy hit of the same name. The central episode is a gorgeous fashion episode, filmed in natural colors. Alfred E. Green directed.

The Rialto.
Marked by gripping drama such as Cecil B. DeMille only is capable, "The Road to Yesterday," has proved of exceptional executive value at the Rialto theater this week. It closes today. Joseph Schildkraut, Jetta Goudal, Vera Reynolds, and William Boyd play the leading roles. The most realistic train wreck ever filmed is one of the high lights of the picture.

The comedy is "Felix Bursts Into Business."

New York, March 5.—(AP)—An early advance met a renewal of selling drive on the cotton market today, and after moving up to 18.35, May contracts broke to 18.04, closing at 18.06. The general market closed steady at net declines of 3 to 11 points.

The close was steady 5 to 10 points higher in response to relatively steady cables and a continuance of the covering movement noted yesterday.

The market was a shade above yesterday's closing figures. Demand, which was attributed chiefly to realizing by recent sellers, was supplied by southern local selling on the advance, however, and prices eased again in the afternoon, when sentiment appeared to be influenced by bearish statistics, reports of continued good progress with farm work and the higher unsettled showing of the stock market.

The market broke to 19.20 in late trading, while October sold off to 17.31. The close was within 2 or 3 points of the lowest.

The week-end statistics had no apparent effect on sentiment in the market. The market was rather quiet, with a slight advance in the cotton market, and a slight decline in the grain market.

MARKET ERRATIC AT NEW ORLEANS.
New Orleans, March 5.—(AP)—The cotton market was rather erratic in today's trading as far as the price trend was concerned. After opening higher on good cables and a moving market, the price moved sharply down in the morning of 8 to 15 points owing to further rains in the western belt and in southern portions of the eastern belt, prices started to ease off on the continued absence of sustained spot demand and on talk of increased acreage.

Trading in the afternoon the market developed a more distinctly easier tone owing to the bearish character of the weekly statistics particularly disappointing mill takings and the continued shrinkage in exports. At the lowest reached in the late afternoon prices showed recessions from the early highs of 17 to 23 points.

The close was a shade above the lows, showing net losses for the day of 4 to 9 points.

At the start as cables were better than the market was shown a considerable rise in the belt trades, showing 6 to 10 points. This improvement was added to until at the highest of the morning which peaked at 18.35, July at 17.08, October at 16.86, or 8 to 13 points above the previous close.

The market turned easier later in the morning particularly due to the disappointing mill takings and exports. In the late trading, May dropped as low as 16.70, July to 17.48, October to 16.70, or 18 to 23 points below the highs. The market closed a shade above the lows.

Secretary Hester made mill takings for March 272,000 bales, or an increase of 327,000 last year and 162,000 year before last. Exports for the day totaled only 2,324 bales and for the week 167,113 bales.

New York, March 5.—Yesterday's recovery in the stock market merely represented correction of over-extended speculation and did not mean that there had been any change in the favorable and promising general situation. The market was a shade above yesterday's closing figures.

One of the leading five and ten cent stores reported an increase of 15 per cent in February sales, against an increase of 12 per cent for the same month of the year. Detroit reported a new high record for all time in industrial employment with a gain of 1,500 over the previous week.
